NEWS • TRAVEL • SPORTS • LIFESTYLE

Paige Kornblue is an award-winning journalist who enjoys telling the stories and showcasing the brands that make a difference. After nearly two decades anchoring and reporting for top-rated television stations across America, she founded Paige Kornblue Media to feature everything from interesting people to premium products and fascinating places to the gems that make our communities special.

Paige is currently a TODAY SHOW Parenting Team Contributor and has covered everything from major storms and sporting events to presidential debates and elections. She has anchored and provided live reports for WPTV NewsChannel 5 (NBC West Palm Beach), WMUR (ABC New Hampshire/Boston), KVHP (FOX Louisiana), CNN and The Weather Channel. Some of her most memorable stories include exclusive interviews with President Barack Obama, First Lady Michelle Obama, Senator John McCain, Barbara Walters and Chris Evert.

Paige brings to her work the skills and experiences that come from being a mom of three young children. 'Wonderful chaos' is how she describes the joys and challenges of motherhood with twin sons and a daughter born just 18 months apart! Like many of her peers, Paige understands and relates to the demands of those in the Sandwich Generation who are caring for aging parents. Paige knows life and loss following her mother's hard-fought battle against cancer and her father's decline from Alzheimer's, and she works hard to share what she's learned along the way. Today, Paige blends together all of those challenging and beautiful life experiences with impactful stories of the day. After all, stories are meant to be shared.... over a good cup of coffee or a cocktail and with Paige!
